Revised Examination Regulations of the Faculty of Mathematics, Informatics and Natural Sciences for Master of Science (MSc) Degree Programs

Dated 26 April 2023

On 20 August 2009, in accordance with Section 108 subsection 1 of the Hamburg higher education act (Hamburgisches Hochschulgesetz, HmbHG) dated 18 July 2001 (HmbGVBl. p. 171) and amended on 23 September 2008 (HmbGVBl. p. 335) the Executive University Board of Universität Hamburg ratified the Subject-Specific Provisions for the Master of Science in Politics, Economics and Philosophy adopted by the Faculty of Business, Economics and Social Sciences on 17 June 2009 in accordance with Section 91 subsection 2 number 1 HmbHG.

The examination regulations are amended as follows:

“The master’s thesis must be submitted to the Academic Office in electronic form. The chair of the examinations board may establish more detailed specifics with respect to the requisite digital form and method of transmission. The digital receipt of the thesis as specified by the chair of the examinations board before the expiry of established deadlines is sufficient to meet the submission deadline. The candidate has the burden of proving the master’s thesis was submitted. The date of submission must be recorded in the student’s file. The student must submit an affidavit along with the thesis affirming that they have written the thesis entirely on their own and that if, for reasons unattributable to the candidate, the thesis is not submitted by the deadline, the examinations board must decide how to proceed. Normally, a new topic is assigned, which is not regarded as a second attempt. In such an event, subsection 5 sentence 6 applies mutatis mutandis. If, for reasons attributable to the candidate, the thesis is not submitted by the deadline, Section 16 subsection 1 applies.

These amendments become effective on the day following official publication by Universität Hamburg.
